THE WCA CENTENNIAL CAMPAIGN: STANDING FOR CHILDREN

Our campaign to celebrate our 100th anniversary and ensure our effectiveness into the next century began in 2011. The goal of the campaign is to strengthen and sustain three key cornerstones that enable WCA to successfully advocate and drive positive changes for children. These are:

- Turning data into knowledge about the status of Westchester's children.
- Building a shared vision among community members about what children need.
- Mobilizing community members to push for changes that help children and youth thrive.

The generous support we've received so far has enabled us to increase our capacity to advance children's issues, as well as to communicate more effectively.

As of March 31, 2014 we have received over $4.5M in gifts and pledges, towards our overall goal of $6.5M, with 20 months left in the campaign. It's an exciting time of growth and change at WCA, and we're very grateful to all our donors.

THANK YOU
FOR HELPING US TO GET
CLOSER TO OUR $6.5M GOAL

$4.5M in gifts & pledges so far

Because of your support,
we are able to make a difference for Westchester's children and youth!

TURNING DATA INTO KNOWLEDGE

As part of our ongoing efforts to find out what children need, WCA collected data from dozens of sources. We continue to explore new ways to analyze and present data to a wider audience, including interactive data visualization tools and infographics posted on our website, social media, and on paper for distribution.

Our fact sheet, Westchester: the Next Generation, was distributed at the Legislative Breakfast on February 22nd and our Children By the Numbers 2014 data bulletin was released in January 2014. It has been distributed widely, and the original printing of 500 copies was quickly depleted. It is posted on our website, and will be reprinted by popular demand.

BUILDING A SHARED VISION

Since its beginnings, WCA has led collaborative efforts to develop common-sense solutions to problems facing children and youth in Westchester. We convene coalitions of professionals and experts to study complex issues, educate the public and build opportunities for disparate individuals and communities to work together. This year, we focused on issues such as raising New York's age for criminal prosecution, educating the public regarding the stressors of adverse childhood experiences, increasing supports for very young children, and expanding affordable health care for children and their families.

Connecting Youth

We published a report on disconnected youth, Dreams Deferred: Reconnecting Youth to School, Work and Community, which was distributed at our March 22nd Advocacy Breakfast. At the breakfast Judge Michael Corriero spoke about the need to change New York's treatment of 16 and 17-year-olds who commit crimes, one of the central recommendations of our report. WCA staff and Board have used the report to educate the public and policy-makers about the issues affecting disconnected youth, and to advocate for its key recommendations.

WCA staff presented this issue and our report in a web-broadcasted conversation with the Journal News Editorial Board and on a White Plains Community Access television program hosted by Susan McPherson.

A MESSAGE from the President of Westchester Children's Association

Dear Friends of Westchester Children's Association,

As President of Westchester Children's Association, it is my privilege to present to you the annual report of our important work of changing the world for the next generation. I am so proud of our efforts over the last year, efforts that have improved the quality of life for so many children in our community. 2014, our centennial year, is a chance not only to celebrate our century of accomplishments, but to hone our vision for children going forward as well.

As the leading voice for the children of Westchester, WCA continues its work to ensure that children's needs are kept in the forefront of the public agenda. As always, we remain committed to our mission – ensuring that every child is healthy, safe and prepared for life's challenges. We receive no government funding, so our work is only possible because of our donors. We're very grateful to those who enable us all to be children's champions, and to speak up fearlessly on their behalf.

Now more than ever, children and youth need strong voices to speak up for their needs and fight for their future. WCA's successful advocacy cannot happen without the dedicated efforts of our energetic and committed staff and Board, our Advisory Council, our community partners, and, most importantly, our many philanthropic donors. We thank you sincerely for your gifts and for helping Westchester Children's Association to remain effective as the voice of Westchester's children.

Sincerely yours,

Catherine Draper, WCA Board President

WCA ADVOCACY DINNER

WCA's 2013 Advocacy Dinner honored Genevieve Piturro, Founder and Executive Director of The Pajama Program. The Dinner at Tappan Hill raised nearly $90,000 for our work to benefit Westchester's youngest citizens.

On June 20th, WCA Executive Director, Cora Greenberg, appeared on a panel at the Jacob Burns Film Center with Neighbor's Link Executive Director, Carola Bracco, to discuss the documentary Inocente, a film depicting the life of a "disconnected" and undocumented homeless teenager in San Diego who finds connection and confidence through art.

Adverse Childhood Experiences

We developed and distributed educational materials about the long-term effects of early toxic stress or Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACEs). In April, Deputy Director Allison Lake presented a workshop at the County's Community Violence Prevention Forum, which was attended by 400 people. In the fall, we made a presentation on the effects of Adverse Childhood Experiences to the Ethical Culture Society of Northern Westchester in Ossining.

Children's Health

The Affordable Care Act brought new opportunities for insuring children and families but also caused confusion. WCA sponsored a forum on "Health Reform for Children and Families" in partnership with the Schuyler Center for Analysis and Advocacy (SCAA) on February 7th, attended by about 40 representatives of child and family service agencies. At the request of the Westchester County Department of Health, WCA convened a meeting of 8 organizations that are serving as Navigators and Certified

And, on December 12th, WCA hosted a presentation for the local media about the New York State of Health - Affordable Care Act (ACA). The event featured presentations by several organizations involved with educating and enrolling participants in health coverage.

MOBILIZING FOR CHANGE

For decades, WCA has been mobilizing people and organizations throughout Westchester to be advocates and activists to improve children’s lives. In 2013 we held forums and town hall meetings to motivate and inspire action around the Raise the Age-NY alliance. We hosted roundtable discussions to explore youth empowerment, and we surveyed legislators about their commitment to investing in children and youth.

Raise the Age-NY

WCA is the county’s lead organization for Raise the Age-NY, a statewide alliance of many groups working to change the age of criminal responsibility in New York State to 18. Following our Advocacy Breakfast on this topic on March 22nd, we hosted a Roundtable Forum in May featuring Abby Anderson, leader of the successful age change in Connecticut.

We discussed the issue and its local impact with state legislators. WCA intern Randall Hayes compiled video interviews about Raise the Age-NY with local elected and community leaders, service providers and attorneys, which has been used in community forums as well as on social media and the WCA website.

WCA’s Raise the Age-NY Town Hall meeting in White Plains on October 30th was attended by more than 130 people. In December, 865 petitions collected by the Raise the Age-NY campaign were mailed to Governor Cuomo’s office. This included 104 hardcopy plus more than 100 online petitions collected by WCA, the largest number generated from any county in the state.

Youth Empowerment & Engagement

WCA helped plan and moderate a panel at the Myra Alfreds Roundtable on May 9th focused on Youth Voices and Empowerment in Shaping Public Policies and Programs.

In collaboration with Westchester County Depts. of Mental Health, Social Services, Youth Bureau, and the Westchester Youth Councils, WCA organized a youth-led brainstorming session in July. About 40 young people representing a range of leadership groups convened and discussed how to involve youth in shaping the public policies that affect their lives.

WCA invited interested teens to be “youth reporters.” Several youth-written articles have appeared and are linked to our social media accounts. Our teen reporters interviewed both candidates for County Executive on October 14th and posted the results of their interviews on their blog, extending the reach of WCA’s advocacy.

WCA - ACTIONS COUNT

$900,000 was added to the County Budget for child care subsidies

25% of messages to the governor for the Raise the Age-NY campaign were from Westchester. These comprised the largest number from any NYS county.

Vote for Kids: Electoral Advocacy

Our Child Watch Bus Tour was held on October 24th. WCA Board members and donors toured three county-funded child/youth programs. Following the tour, candidates for county office attended a reception at Sam's of Gedney Way along with about 50 youth and staff from various programs around the county. The young people and program staff members "testified" to the candidates about the value and efficacy of their programs.

WCA released the results of our Candidate Survey at the ChildWatch reception, revealing candidates' positions on child-related issues. Prior to the election, about 400 people viewed the on-line version of the responses, and many others saw hard-copies of the survey answers.

The County Budget

WCA was once again actively involved in the Westchester County budget deliberations. The proposed budget included support for youth services, and an addition of $900,000 for childcare subsidies for parents who earn about 200% of the federal poverty level. WCA staff and/or Board members testified at all three County Budget hearings, and provided talking points for community members who spoke. WCA initiated a campaign, encouraging voters to send messages to the County Executive urging him to accept the proposed budget. The response was strong, and the budget was accepted as proposed.
